Sustainable Transportation Summit 2019: Call for Presentations

How we move is changing. What's happening now and how can we prepare for the future?

Commuting Solutions is now accepting proposals for the Third Annual Sustainable Transportation Summit on May 15th at the University of Colorado UMC, Boulder, Colorado.

The Sustainable Transportation Summit convenes local, regional and national innovators and stakeholders to showcase multi-modal projects throughout the northwest metro region and beyond. The Summit gives participants the opportunity to learn about innovations, discuss challenges and develop new ideas as we plan for the future.

We are looking for presentations that will provide insight to the latest trends, research and technology that impacts the conversation around transportation and mobility. Sample topics and ideas include but are not limited to:

- Active transportation as it relates to a healthy economy
- Developing Public-Private Partnerships
- Innovative economic development that maximize active transportation investments
- Social and economic impacts of transportation solutions in and around communities
- Projects that promote equity and advocacy
- Shared-use mobility trends and national progress
- Transportation technology innovations
- First and final mile connectivity solutions
- Transportation Demand Management innovation

Consider a proposal for a one-hour breakout sessions, panel discussions or lightning talk sessions. Some topics and suggested presenters may be combined to best meet the needs of our audience. We're excited to learn about timely and valuable projects and ideas!

Deadline to submit is Wednesday, February 13. See below for the submission form.

Thanks for helping us make our third Summit another success!
